Hardy, Frank. Christ Bihígíí [Things That Are Christ's]. Nampa, ID: Pacific Press, 1977. (Out of print.)

The title of this booklet refers to the chapter titles, which are "Christ's Law," "Christ's Life," and "Christ's Righteous." The first chapter has to do with the Sabbath, the second with the idea that the soul is not naturally immortal. The third chapter deals with the role of faith in obtaining both obedience and eternal life. Content appears in Navajo and English on facing pages throughout.

Christ Bihígíí was shared among those conferences whose territory contains major Navajo populations. These are Arizona-Utah, Texico, and Colorado. (Colorado Conference administers the northwestern corner of New Mexico, which contains the important town of Shiprock, the church at Waterflow, and La Vida Mission.)

I greatly appreciate the help that Tom Holiday and Bud Joe Haycock supplied on the Navajo portion of the draft during the summer of 1975. And I would like to thank Barbara Starett, of La Vida Mission, for allowing the press to use one of her oil paintings for the cover.
